Dear Parents,

Yesterday, the whole school visited All Saints Church for our Harvest Festival. This was our first service of this academic year and it was great to see so many parents and friends support us both with the service and through generous donations for Hull Foodbank. The feedback we received from this service was excellent and it was a pleasure to share some of the comments with the children in our celebration collective worship today. Having had several years in which services such as these have been disrupted, it is good to be able to join together in such numbers again. I think we are all now more grateful for the things that we previously took for granted.

Next week we will be holding our open evenings for parents in school. At these, you will once again have the opportunity to view your child's work before meeting with your child's class teacher. Children are welcome to attend alongside you however we also recognise that sometimes parents feel it more appropriate to discuss their child's progress without their child present. As usual, we will be asking parents to fill in one of our questionnaires which give a valuable insight into the things that you feel we do well and also suggestions for things that we can improve. We value your feedback so please do take the time to complete one.

As you are aware, we are extremely proud of our library and a focus is now on ensuring that we continue to purchase additional age appropriate, quality texts for our children. One way in which we will be doing this is through the commission we receive from our school bookfair. This will be arriving in school next week and will be open after school each evening from Tuesday onwards, including at our parents' evenings. Please take the time to look at the books on offer. Every book purchased allows us to purchase additional books for our library.

We recognise how much our parents value the opportunity of seeing their child showcase their talents in school and we are pleased to share dates for the class assemblies planned for this term alongside the Class 1 and 2 Christmas production. Performances such as these produce some really special memories and this will allow you to plan ahead and arrange time off work should you wish to attend. Tickets are not required for our class assemblies and all are welcome to attend. A letter regarding tickets for the Christmas performances will be sent next half term.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Winks
